Performance Analysis

- ▶ More hawkish expectations for monetary policy and signs of sluggish economic activity outside of the US were a feature of markets, contributing to an uncertain outlook for the global economy.
- ▶ Despite these challenges, global equities rallied with the Fund’s Trendfollowing managers profiting from long equity exposures. Longs in Japanese indices were the primary driver of gains. A weaker Japanese Yen, strong foreign inflows and solid corporate earnings helped the Nikkei 225 reach a 33-year high. Long NASDAQ 100 positions also contributed positively.
- ▶ Positive performance was also recorded in currencies where long US Dollar positions against the Japanese Yen resulted in notable returns. The Japanese Yen weakened as the Bank of Japan remained an outlier relative to its global peers as it persisted with its zero interest rate policy.
- ▶ Long Mexican Peso positioning drove gains in emerging market currencies as the Peso rallied against the US Dollar for the third straight quarter.
- ▶ In fixed income, shorts in UK interest rate contracts led to gains as the Bank of England turned more hawkish in response to persistently high inflation. Gains were also recorded from short US Treasury contracts.
- ▶ On the downside, trading in energy proved challenging for performance. Crude oil prices were choppy, with global growth concerns, OPEC+ supply cuts and shifts in US inventories contributing to a lack of clear trends and frequent price reversals. Trendfollowing, Short-term Systematic and Value all recorded losses in energy.
- ▶ Longs in precious metals also detracted from returns, with prices falling alongside the hawkish shift in central bank policy and higher global yields.

Positioning

- ▶ Long equity positions were maintained throughout the quarter, while short fixed income positions were increased as global yields rose. Commodity positions were relatively muted at quarter end, with modest longs across agricultural contracts offset by shorts in metals and energy.
- ▶ In currencies, the Fund finished the quarter long in the US Dollar, British Pound and Canadian Dollar. Offsetting short positions were concentrated in the Japanese Yen.

Value-at-Risk (VaR) expresses market risk as a percentage of a portfolio's value. The VaR figures quoted are as of 30 June 2023, based on a historic VaR calculation with a 5-year lookback period (1300 days). The historical approach to evaluating a portfolio's VaR involves applying the current positions to the historical portfolio prices of the corresponding instruments, and then calculating how the current positioning would have performed historically. For any chosen threshold value, the hypothetical returns then provide an estimate of the current VaR figure.

► %VaR:

► Morningstar Rating: The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or “star rating”, is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product’s monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating™ for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating™ metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The Abbey Capital Futures Strategy Fund (Share Class I) was rated 3 stars over the 3-year period and 4 stars over the 5-year period ending 30 June 2023 among 22 and 20 US Systematic Trend funds, respectively.
