- ▶ Strong performance for the Value trading style. Global Macro and Long-term Trendfollowing (“Trendfollowing”) also contributed positively, while Short-term Systematic was negative.

Performance Analysis

- ▶ Monetary policy remained in focus, with the prospect of rates remaining elevated for longer than previously forecast weighing on risk sentiment during the quarter.
- ▶ This more hawkish outlook for global monetary policy proved a significant headwind for global stocks, which saw their first negative quarter since Q3 2022.
- ▶ The Fund's largest gains occurred in bonds, with short positions profiting as global yields rose. Gains in the sector were led by short positions in US Treasury contracts as robust economic data and guidance from the Federal Reserve contributed to a hawkish repricing of US rate expectations for 2024 and higher US yields. Shorts in Canadian contracts also contributed positively.
- ▶ Long energy exposures resulted in further gains. Strong uptrends emerged in crude oil and distillates as the global supply picture tightened due to OPEC+ production cuts and shrinking US inventories. Weather-related disruptions to production and Russian export cuts were a further support for distillate prices. Long positions in crude oil, heating oil and gasoil led gains.
- ▶ Smaller gains occurred in precious metals. The Value trading style drove gains from short gold positions.
- ▶ Performance in equities was negative, with Fund losses recorded from long positions held for much of the quarter. Losses occurred across UK, eurozone and US indices, with Long-term Trendfollowing driving losses at the trading style level.
- ▶ Mostly short positions in base metals and longs across a basket of emerging market currencies also detracted from returns.

Positioning

- ▶ Weakness in equity markets saw long positioning in equities pared back to flat during the quarter. In fixed income, short exposures were increased as global yields rose.
- ▶ In commodities, longs in energy were the most prominent position as of quarter end, with long agricultural commodity and short metals positions also held.
- ▶ In currencies, the Fund finished the quarter long in the US Dollar with offsetting short positions concentrated in Japanese Yen, Euro and Canadian Dollar.

► VaR Definition:

Value-at-Risk (VaR) expresses market risk as a percentage of a portfolio's value. The VaR figures quoted are as of 30 September 2023, based on a historic VaR calculation with a 5-year lookback period (1300 days). The historical approach to evaluating a portfolio's VaR involves applying the current positions to the historical portfolio prices of the corresponding instruments, and then calculating how the current positioning would have performed historically. For any chosen threshold value, the hypothetical returns then provide an estimate of the current VaR figure.

► %VaR:

%VaR is the contract VaR as a percentage of the sum of the individual contract VaRs within the Fund.

► Basis Point ("BPS") Definition:

A basis point is one hundredth of one percent and refers to a common unit of measure for interest rates and other percentages in finance.

► Correlation Definition:

Correlation is a statistical measure which quantifies the extent to which two assets, or securities, move in relation to each other. The correlation coefficient between two assets can vary from between -1 and +1, with a positive correlation indicating a tendency to rise and fall together, and a negative correlation indicating a tendency to move in opposite directions.

► Description of trading styles:

Diversified Trendfollowing: A systematic style that managers adopt to take advantage of trends in markets, with positions taken for duration of four weeks and longer.

Global Macro: A global macro approach is based on trading macroeconomic themes over multiple time frames. A Macro manager will trade looking to profit from global economic trends which include interest rates, economic policies, and currency fluctuations.

Value: A systematic trading of interest rate yield curve differentials and changes in term structure over medium term to long term. A Value manager trades based on a view that contracts are not priced correctly in the current market due to expected future trends and potential.

Short-term Systematic: Aims to capture trends and countertrends with durations from intraday to 10 days. A CTA will trade in and out of contracts using closely controlled methods which are designed to take advantage of pricing or arbitrage opportunities.

► Morningstar Rating: The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or “star rating”, is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product’s monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating™ for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating™ metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. The Abbey Capital Futures Strategy Fund (Share Class I) was rated 3 stars over the 3-year period and 4 stars over the 5-year period ending 30 September 2023 among 22 and 20 US Systematic Trend funds, respectively. © 2022 Morningstar, Inc.
