

Q1 2026 Summary

The Fund posted its fourth consecutive positive quarter in Q1 as gains from the Managed Futures strategy offset losses for the Long US Equity strategy.

Drivers of quarterly performance included:

- ▶ Gains in January and February but losses in March.
- ▶ Gains for the Managed Futures strategy in energy, precious metals and emerging market currencies and partially offsetting losses in fixed income and equities.
- ▶ Losses for the Long US Equity strategy as the S&P 500¹ declined in the quarter amid the conflict in the Middle East.

The fund commenced operations as a series of The RBB Fund, Inc. on 11 April 2018.*The inception date of the Class C Shares was 8 November 2021. Returns for Class C Shares prior to 8 November 2021 are pro forma (i.e. returns of Class I Shares from 11 April 2018 are adjusted for Class C Shares expenses). Performance results with sales charges reflect the deduction of the applicable contingent deferred sales charge (CDSC). Class C shares are subject to a CDSC of 1.00% if you redeem your shares within twelve (12) months of purchase, based on the lesser of the shares’ cost at purchase or current net asset value at time of redemption. Performance presented at NAV does not include the CDSC and would be lower if a charge was reflected. The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor’s shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. Performance would have been lower without fee waivers in effect. Visit www.abbeycapital.com for returns updated daily. The gross expenses are 1.88% for Class I Shares, 2.13% for Class A Shares and 2.88% for Class C Shares. Abbey Capital has contractually agreed through December 31, 2026, to waive its advisory fee and/or reimburse expenses to limit Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses (excluding Excluded Items below) to 1.80% for Class I Shares, 2.05% for Class A Shares and 2.80% for Class C Shares (the “Fee Waiver”). The following are not included in the Fee Waiver: acquired fund fees and expenses, brokerage commissions, extraordinary items, interest or taxes (“Excluded Items”).

Performance Analysis

- ▶ The escalating conflict in the Middle East marked a turning point for trends across various markets. 2026 had begun with a continuation of the uptrends seen in precious metals last year, along with broadly positive moves in equity markets, most notably outside the US. Risk-off sentiment and inflationary concerns then took hold from late-February.
- ▶ Within energy markets, a negative backdrop for trading early in the year gave way to improved conditions from the end of February. Crude oil and distillates trended sharply higher during March as the closure of the Strait of Hormuz led to significant supply concerns. The Managed Futures strategy realised strong gains from long positions.
- ▶ Gains for the Managed Futures strategy in precious metals stemmed from longs in gold and silver, the prices of which rallied to record highs before correcting in March alongside increased inflation fears.
- ▶ Negatively for performance, losses occurred in equities for both the Managed Futures strategy and the Long US Equity strategy. Performance in equities had been strongly positive in January and February for the Managed Futures strategy, when long positions in several non-US indices reported gains. However, the conflict in the Middle East saw sharp corrections in equity markets and Q1 performance in the sector was ultimately negative for the Managed Futures strategy following losses in March. The correction in US equities also saw losses for the Long US Equity Strategy.
- ▶ Within fixed income, long positions held in early March detracted for the Managed Futures strategy when global yields rose sharply on inflationary fears.

Positioning

- ▶ In terms of positioning for the Managed Futures strategy, long exposure to equities was reduced, while positioning in fixed income transitioned between long and short throughout Q1, with a short held at quarter-end.
- ▶ Longs in metals peaked in January, while positioning in energy and agricultural commodities moved from short to long.
- ▶ In currencies, the Managed Futures strategy finished the quarter with a long position in the US Dollar and Australian Dollar, with short exposures to the Euro and Japanese Yen.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS:

▶ All mutual fund investing involves risk including the possible loss of principal value. Investing in a managed futures fund entails special risks and may not be suitable for all investors given its speculative nature and the high level of risk involved. The Fund is appropriate only for investors who can understand and bear the risks associated with the product. You may lose part or all of your investment in the Fund.

▶ Except for fund returns, the portfolio statistics shown in this fact sheet are based only on the open forward, future and option contracts held by the wholly-owned and controlled subsidiaries of the Fund and does not take into account any other assets held by the Fund (primarily cash and cash-equivalents). The Fund may invest approximately 25% of its total assets in the ACMAF Master Offshore Limited, which invests substantially all its assets in ACMAF Offshore SPC. Individual managers are appointed to separate segregated portfolios of ACMAF Offshore SPC and are permitted to trade certain financial, managed futures and foreign exchange contracts.

▶ Futures and forward contracts may involve substantial risk, such as losses caused by unanticipated market movements, which are potentially unlimited; possible lack of a liquid secondary market; the inability to close a contract when desired; and the possibility of counterparty default.

▶ Short sales theoretically involve unlimited loss potential since the market price of securities or contracts sold short may continuously increase. The use of certain derivatives may also have a leveraging effect which may increase the volatility of the Fund and may increase the risk of loss.

▶ Exposure to commodities markets and commodity-linked derivatives may subject the Fund to greater volatility affected by industry-related factors, value, supply and demand, governmental policies, weather, economic and political factors.

▶ Investments in foreign and emerging markets are subject to risks from currency fluctuation, political instability, social and economic risks. In particular, emerging and frontier markets may be more volatile and less liquid than more developed markets and therefore may involve greater risks.

▶ The Fixed Income strategy invests the Fund's assets primarily in investment grade fixed income securities (of all durations and maturities) in order to generate interest income and capital appreciation. Fixed income securities that the fund may invest are subject to credit risk, prepayment risk and interest rate risk so that as interest rates rise the value of bond prices will decline. These risks are usually greater for longer-term debt securities.

▶ The Fund is non-diversified which means it may be invested in a limited number of issuers and susceptible to any economic, political and regulatory events than a more diversified fund.

▶ This brief statement cannot disclose all of the risks and other factors necessary to evaluate a participation in the Fund. Investors are urged to take appropriate investment advice and to carefully consider their investment objectives, personal situation, and factors such as net worth, income, age, risk tolerance and liquidity needs before investing in the Fund. Before investing, investors should carefully consider the Fund's investment objectives, risks, conflicts, tax considerations, charges and expenses.

▶ VaR Definition:

Value-at-Risk (VaR) expresses market risk as a percentage of a portfolio's value. The VaR figures quoted are as of 31 March 2026, based on a historic VaR calculation with a 5-year lookback period (1300 days). The historical approach to evaluating a portfolio's VaR involves applying the current positions to the historical portfolio prices of the corresponding instruments, and then calculating how the current positioning would have performed historically. For any chosen threshold value, the hypothetical returns then provide an estimate of the current VaR figure.

▶ %VaR:

%VaR is the contract VaR as a percentage of the sum of the individual contract VaRs within the Fund.

▶ Basis Point ("BPS") Definition:

A basis point is one hundredth of one percent and refers to a common unit of measure for interest rates and other percentages in finance.
